THE DAY'S BEST STORY

Robert N. Johnson, Paris insurance agent, is not a bit superstitious, but he does admit he was a trifle nervous the other night, while motoring on the Lexington pike, near Paris. The car was purring along the boulevard softly with all cylinders working perfectly and nothing save the sounds of Nature to disturb the quiet of the evening.

Save for Mr. Johnson the car was unoccupied. Suddenly from the rear seat came a voice—apparently a voice exclaiming—"who, who." Mr. Johnson stopped his car to investigate. Finding no one there and thinking his ears had deceived him, he proceeded again, when the same plaintive challenge came from the rear seat, "who, who."

Convinced this time that he had not been mistaken and determined to solve the mystery, he stopped the car, and arming himself with a club, made a thorough search of the car. His efforts were rewarded by the discovery of a large owl perched on the rear seat. Mr. Johnson captured the bird and brought it to Paris, presenting it to L. W. Bush, the Lexington Herald correspondent, who has added it to his already extensive collection. "Jamie Butler and The Owl" of our school days had nothing on the mystery that surrounded Mr. Johnson's visitor.

DEATHS.

Mr. Wilson is survived by his wife, formerly Miss Mollie McNeese, two sons, and one daughter; and by four brothers, Charles, Dike, Dan and Wm. Wilson, and two sisters, Mrs. Allie Roberts and Mrs. Robert Crombie, all of Bourbon county.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon at two o'clock, at the Cynthiana Christian church, with services conducted by Rev. George Ammerman. The burial followed on the family lot in Battle Grove Cemetery.
